The Capital Area Agency on Aging, in partnership with AARP, assists seniors age 60 and over who need help with their monthly bill-paying responsibilities. Trained volunteers provide individualized bill-paying assistance including check writing along with services such as preparing a monthly budget, sorting mail, reviewing bills, creating a household filing system, balancing a checkbook, and reviewing bank statements.

Money Management enables older adults to live independently and with the peace of mind that their bills are paid in a timely fashion and no late fees or penalties are being assessed. The program also provides ongoing oversight to protect against financial exploitation by monitoring expenditures. All services are customized to the individual's needs and requirements. Volunteers typically work in the client's own home at least once per month.

All volunteers must pass criminal background checks and training prior to assignment.

There is no charge for Money Management services but donations are encouraged. For further information, please contact Senior Connections, CAAA at (804) 343-3000.
